

Action Research Consulting (ARC) is a comprehensive, collaborative solution for schools and districts facing important policy or procedure shifts associated with mission-critical goals. These services utilize change theory, data-driven decision making and other proven strategies to help stakeholders understand and implement applied research to effectively address specific operational outcomes.

ARC employs a systematic and rigorous participatory model to increase organizational effectiveness and support school reform.

Service features

- Identification of issue(s)
- Consensus building around the issue(s)
- Solution plan for addressing issue(s)
- Collection of relevant data and information
- Evaluation of plan effectiveness and future needs

Service Benefits

- Shift cultural paradigms to view operational change as a process rather than as an event
- Achieve goal-focused, solutions-oriented collaboration among stakeholders with neutral third party support
- Create “buy-in” among staff most directly responsible for implementing solutions to operational challenges
- Empower staff to make meaningful and engaged contributions to school or district success
- Establish the scaffolding needed to support change efforts until “front-line” personnel are self-sustaining
